Quiet hunting season so far in Highlands

by Andy Holloway

The first week of the deer hunting season in the Haliburton Highlands was relatively quiet say Minden OPP and the Ministry of Natural Resources.

Normally the start of the deer hunt is filled with incidents like lost hunters, poached deer and shooting accidents. But like last year, the number of hunters staying in the area is down, which is a reason why there are fewer incidents.

MNR Conservation Officer Dave Ferguson says a large number of hunters are staying home because the economy has not recovered enough for them to take the time off work. As a result, local residents are still out there, but there are few visitors.

"There are still the local hunters, but we've checked their regular haunts and there haven't been any problems," says Ferguson.

MNR Area Supervisor Bill Hudson says a few charges have been laid, but it has been "relatively quiet so far." Charges have been laid mostly against people taking deer without their tags present and for driving all-terrain vehicles with loaded firearms on board. When driving, guns can not be loaded. There have been a few hunters trespassing, but it has not been a major problem.

There have been at least two deer cows illegally killed, but charges have not yet been laid in either incident, says Ferguson. In one incident in Harcourt, six people watched while a cow was shot, but details of the hunter are sketchy.

Some people mistake a cow for a calf and shoot the deer by accident, but some see an easy target and fire without first checking to make sure it is a buck.

Minden OPP Sergeant Art Goard also reports few incidents involving hunters during the last week. One man became lost last Sunday, but was found by his hunting party the next day.

Three weeks ago, however, three moose were poached in Lutterworth Township and police are still investigating.

Drug awareness week plans ready

On Friday at 7 p.m., the opening ceremonies for Drug Awareness week in the Highlands take place at Hart Lodge. The event kicks off a series of activities organized by the Haliburton County Community Action Group.

KAWARTHA'S FINEST

Haliburton Highlands Redmen senior football team whoop it up after beating the Kenner Collegiate Rams last Friday to win the Kawartha Finals. It was the first time in the history of the school the seniors have won the Kawartha football title.

First time Kawartha win for seniors

by Andy Holloway

PETERBOROUGH - It has been a long time coming, but for the first time ever the Haliburton Highlands senior Redmen football team has won the Kawartha Finals.

The Redmen finally cracked Peterborough's stranglehold on the Kawarthas and beat the Kenner Collegiate Rams 29-15 last Friday to move on to the Central Ontario Championships.

"It's starting to sink in to me," said long time coach Gary Brohman on Sunday. "It's just a fantasy."

In keeping with football tradition Brohman was doused by one of his players with a water bottle after the game, but he didn't seem to mind the mini-drenching one bit.

Kenner had made the championship by upsetting the Crestwood Mustangs who appear in the Metro Bowl this week. The Redmen made mince meat of their Kawartha West opposition and had not faced a good team all year.

But the key performer for the Redmen was once again tailback Andy Bacon. Bacon ran for 240 yards on 26 carries and scored two rushing touchdowns. Bacon proved to be so elusive he had to change sweaters at half time because the Rams had shredded his first one trying to grab him. Despite his impressive rushing numbers, it was a punt return by Bacon that set the tone for the day. Bacon fielded a punt on his five yard line and ran right up the middle of the Rams' defenders for a 105 yard touchdown return.

That touchdown made the score 13-0 midway through the second quarter.

With a two point convert run by quarterback Jay Hughes the Redmen had a 15 point lead.

"There's no question he was the difference in the game," Brohman said of Bacon. Bacon had also scored the first touchdown of the game on the Redmen's first possession. The early game plan was simple; give the ball to Bacon all the time. The drive was capped off by a four yard TD run.

After falling behind 15-0, the Rams finally put some points on the board. Operating from the shotgun and relying almost exclusively on the passing game, the Rams started at their own 50 yard line and scored on a reverse. The convert was good and was the last play of the half.

Organizers plan anti-drug message

by Russ Duhaime

Organizers have been busy putting together a series of events and activities to help the community become aware of the problems associated with drug abuse.

The Haliburton County Community Action Group is sponsoring Drug Awareness week, which begins this Friday with the opening ceremonies at 7 p.m. at Hart Lodge.

Drug Awareness Week is part of a national health campaign to promote healthy lifestyles through increased awareness of substance use and abuse.

Corporal Al White

from the Peterborough Drug Unit will be the keynote speaker at Friday's ceremonies. He will be speaking about the effects of drugs and dependency on individuals and society.

Local Girl Guides will also be participating in this event, possibly with a skit similar to the one performed at last year's opening ceremonies.

Up to date information from the Addiction Research Foundation will be available to everyone in attendance on opening night. "Believe in Yourself" shirts will also be available for sale.

Cardiff area residents will have an opportunity to participate in the week's activities during a special presentation at the Cardiff Community Centre on Monday, November 15 at 7:30 p.m. Marg Graham from the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge Health Unit will be the speaker at this event. Her topic will be "drugs and your children."

County students will have a special opportunity to discover the dismal realities of drug addiction when a former "street kid" heads up a series of assemblies at the schools. Serge Leclerc, spent 21 years in prison after a misspent youth. He is now a sociologist and social worker, who relays his experiences to students at 15 to 20 schools each month.

Parents will also have an opportunity to hear Leclerc's presentation during the closing ceremonies at the High School. This presentation will begin at 8 p.m.

Race to replace Drainville heats up

Now a full two months after Victoria-Haliburton's seat in provincial parliament went vacant, there's still no word on when a by-election will be called.

Still, would-be candidates for the Conservative and Liberal parties are starting to gear up for the election. The Conservatives have already set November 18 as their date for a nomination meeting and there are two candidates actively seeking support.

Haliburton County Warden Chris Hodgson will be up against Victoria County Councillor Valmay Barkey for the Conservative nomination.

This riding's seat became vacant when Independent MPP Dennis Drainville resigned in order to run in the federal election.

This riding has remained unrepresented at Queen's Park since Drainville's resignation.

Initially, it was anticipated that a by-election would be called to run concurrently with the one to fill a vacancy in Essex South.

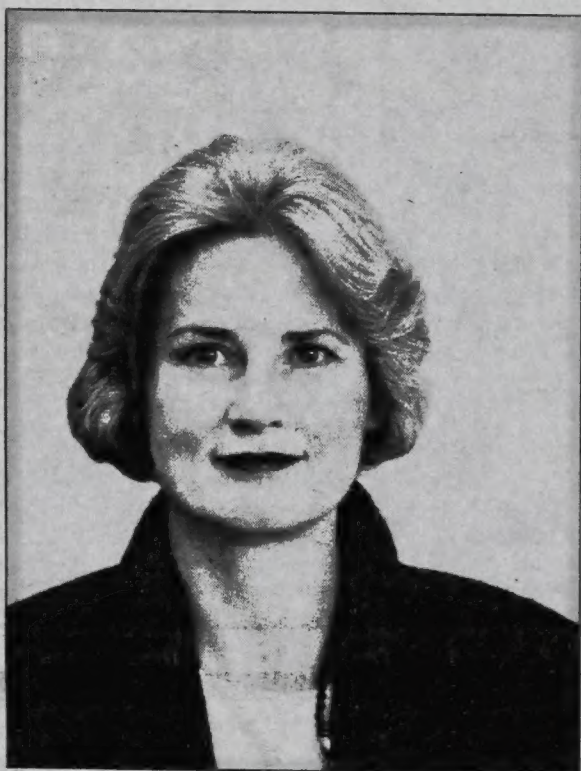

However, Premier Bob Rae chose not to take this route and is not yet willing to set a date for voters in this riding.

Barkey tries for Ontario spot after losing federal nod

After a narrow loss to Lorne Chester in the federal PC nomination, Valmay Barkey is now seeking the provincial nomination.

The Oakwood resident says she has a comprehensive background that will enable her to bring effective representation to the riding. She has experience in both the private and government sectors. As owner of Heritage Property Management Inc. and partner with her husband in Barkey Grain and Feed, she knows the pressures and challenges which face small business operators.

The challenges PC candidate Valmay Barkey. she has faced as Executive Director of Victoria County Community Care and as a governor of Ross Memorial Hospital have taught her the balance required for effective management of government services, in particular health care. Barkey says investor confidence, cost-effective health care, streamlined government, fair taxation and flexible financing for small businesses are the main issues in Ontario today.

She says many of these issues can be dealt with through an increase in funding partnerships between small businesses and financial institutions, a reduction in the regulatory burden on the independent business sector, a lid on taxes and a decrease in interprovincial trade barriers.

Barkey and her husband recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary. They have four children and live outside of Oakwood.

Haliburton's warden wants provincial PC nomination

With two years of municipal government experience under his belt, Chris Hodgson is attempting the leap to provincial politics.

Hodgson believes he can make a valuable contribution at the provincial level as part of Mike Harris's Conservative team. He says the unique needs of rural Ontario demand heightened attention. He says representatives from rural Ontario should be playing an important part in government and their recommendations should be listened to and acted upon.

Hodgson's brief but impressive term at the municipal level has helped him gain an understanding of many of the obstacles faced by small municipalities and counties. His experience as the vice chairman of the Highlands health care planning and development committee has given him further insight into the critical condition of Ontario's cash-strapped health care system.

In addition to this experience, Hodgson is largely responsible for the establishment of a Community Futures program for the county. He serves as chairman of the Futures committee, which was recently successful in securing federal funding to hire an economic development professional to serve the Highlands.

Hodgson, who was raised in the county, has also been actively involved in community sports programs. He was the captain of Haliburton's Junior C hockey team before it was dissolved. He has also coached minor hockey.

Hodgson, 31, is married with two children. He has a four-year Honours BA in Politics from Trent University and has worked in Minden and Haliburton as a realtor for the past eight years.

He was elected as reeve of Dysart Township in November of 1991 and has further served as warden of the county for the past year.

Peer Tutors: New program gets rave reviews at high school

by Russ Duhaime

The peer tutoring program at the high school is getting rave reviews.

The new program, which is being tried out for the first time this semester, is proving to be a big hit for everyone involved. The teachers love the extra help, tutors enjoy the experience, and the students benefit from the extra attention.

Peer tutoring is a concept which brings senior students into the junior classes. These senior tutors act as assistants in the classroom, doubling the level of personal attention.

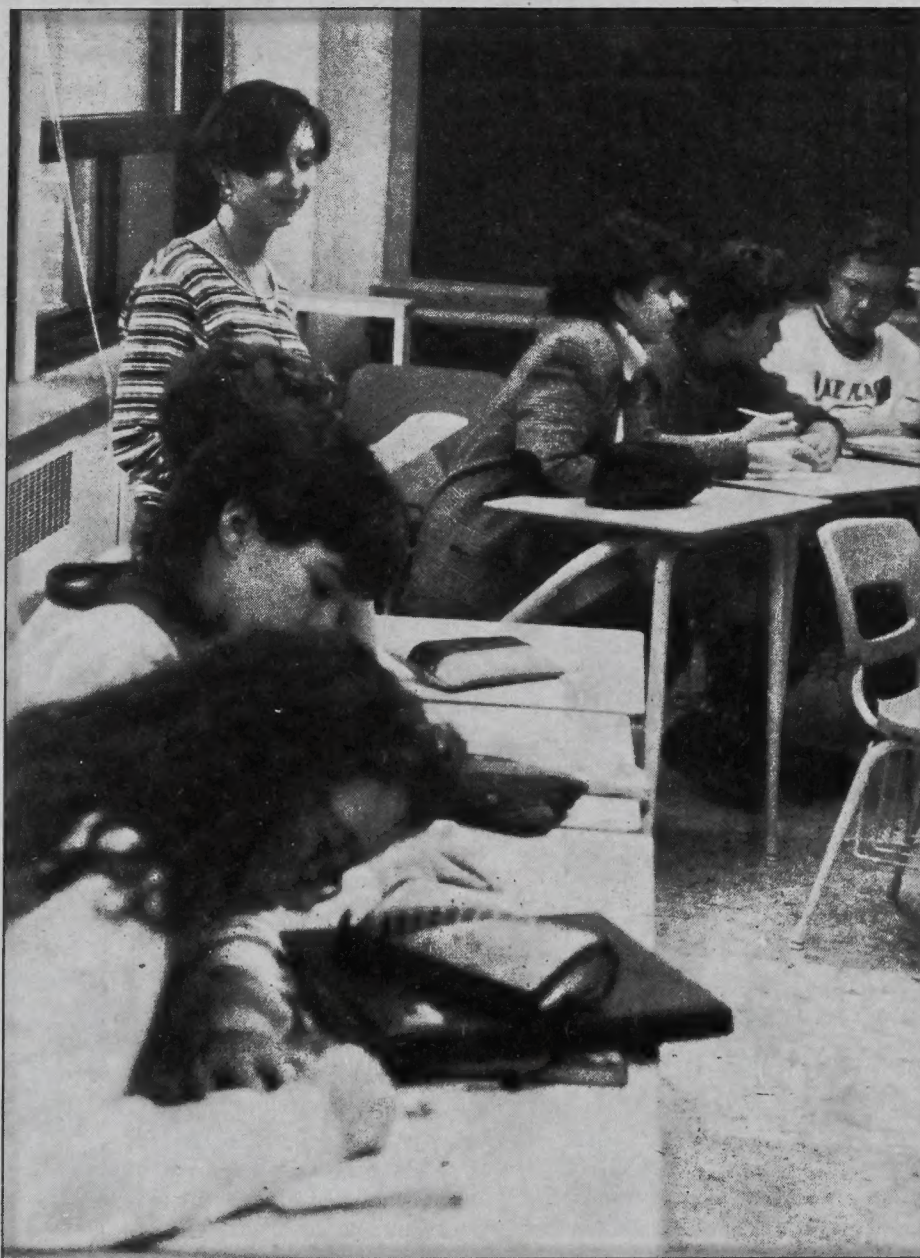

The students in Martha Steen's grade 9 French class are as pleased as punch about their tutor. "The only reason I know French is because of peer tutors," says Josh Schell. While this is a bit of an overstatement, it shows the level of enthusiasm the students have for this program. "They're more like us," he says. "They're more to life than teachers. They went through what we're going through."

Another benefit to the students is the fact that they get a chance to meet some of the seniors at the outset of the school year. The first few weeks of school can be stressful for these new secondary students. Getting to know a few of the seniors can ease the tension. The peer tutors were also responsible for preparing last spring's orientation day, which gave the incoming class a preview of what to expect. Tutors provide ongoing orientation to the grade 9 classes through sessions in home room.

Sheena Horning is the grade 12 student who is earning a credit by helping out in Steen's class. For the most part, she says her job is to circulate throughout the class providing whatever help is needed. She also helps to set up lessons and provide instructions.

"She's very helpful," says Steen. There are 24 students in the class and each has a different level of ability, she notes. "It's a big help to have another concerned set of eyes and ears."

"These young people come at it with a different perspective than teachers," says Steen. It's not so long ago that they were in grade nine. Therefore, they can relate better with the students. She says this fresh perspective can inspire teachers to try new approaches.

Horning says this is proving to be a tremendous experience. She says it also makes her appreciate the job that teachers do. "You get a better idea of what teachers go through when you see it through our own eyes," she says.

Mike Morrison is another peer tutor. He says he applied for this program because he thought it might be a fun way to earn a credit. Well, he is getting the fun he bargained for and more.

"It's fun," he says. "It's neat to spend time with the grade nines." Morrison says he is also getting tremendous experience.

In addition to the general assistance in the classroom, Morrison has actually led two classes. He says teaching a class was a bit scary at first, particularly since his topic is French. However, he says that once he got into it, it was "kind of cool."

Peer tutoring came to Haliburton Highlands Secondary School as an offshoot of the destreaming process. The committee looking at destreaming visited a school in Brock Township and observed the peer tutoring program in place there. Members recommended that a similar program would be valuable in Haliburton.

Guidance teacher Laura Willis picked up the ball and ran with it. She collected whatever information she could get her hands on and helped get this program up and running by the end of the last school year.

Becoming a peer tutor is not just a matter of signing up for the program, says Willis. Instead, the students must apply for entry into the program and attend an interview where their individual talents will be assessed. Grades are a factor in the selection, but Willis says this is not a priority. Instead, she is looking for students with a genuine interest in the program. "We don't want kids whose heads are stuck in a book," she says. They want students who have the enthusiasm and interpersonal skills to help motivate others to learn.

While some students may view this program as an easy credit, there is a great deal of work involved. The tutors' performances in the classroom are evaluated on an ongoing basis by the teacher. In addition, their progress is formally evaluated every three weeks by Willis.

In addition to the hand-on work in the classroom, the tutors are required to attend classes where they learn different teaching methods. The 18 peer tutors were introduced to the program with a three-day seminar where they discovered that teaching is a lot more than lecturing from the front of the class. They learned that each student is an individual and, therefore, no single teaching method is going to be effective for an entire class. Some, for example, learn best by listening and watching while others require a more hands-on approach.

Sixty per cent of the tutors' marks come from their work with their associate teachers. Another 20 per cent of their grade is based on their evaluations, attendance and lessons. The final 20 per cent is based on an independent assignment, which may either take the form of an essay on an educational topic or the preparation and presentation of a full 76-minute class.

Fire department caught short by deer hunt

by Russ Duhaime

The Minden Fire Department was caught short staffed last week and was unable to respond to a fire near Allsaw.

Haliburton firefighters had to be called in when it was discovered that all but two of Minden's volunteers were unavailable to respond to a fire at a storage shed last week. The building was destroyed in the blaze, but no one was injured.

Minden Councillor Grant Plooard, who heads up the fire committee, says a new vacation policy will be in place this week to make sure this sort of confusion is not repeated. Volunteers will now be required to inform Fire Chief Bill Hogg if they are planning to be out of the area. If too many firefighters are away at once, the county's mutual aid system will automatically kick in and other departments will be asked to respond.

Deer hunting season was largely responsible for the shortage of volunteers last week. Plooard says most of the firefighters were out at hunt camps.

"This was a real goof up," says Plooard, "and everyone feels bad about it."

This is not the first time the deer hunt has left Minden's fire department short of volunteers. Plooard says a similar incident happened about 15 years ago. Many of the current volunteers, however, were not with the department at that time. Therefore, it was a surprise when only two men showed up to last week's call.

Because this is a volunteer department, the township cannot dictate vacation times for the firefighters. However, Plooard hopes the new policy will improve communications and co-ordination and prevent this from happening again.

Two students from next year's graduating class at the high school will get some help with the costs of their continuing education thanks to the many donations made to the Eric Nystedt Memorial Fund. OPP constable Mike Landry presented teacher Walter Tose with a cheque for $11,353 last week, which represents the donations from officers, service groups, ratepayers associations and individuals. The money will be placed in a savings account and the interest it generates will be awarded to two students each year at the school's awards ceremonies. The awards are designed to recognize significant contributions to the school's athletic program. The fund was established as a tribute to Constable Eric Nystedt, who was killed this summer in the line of duty. Officers with the Minden OPP detachment extended their appreciation for the generous contributions from the community that helped build this fund. Anyone who wishes to add to the fund is asked to contact either the school or the detachment.

Icy crash on 118

The first icy coating on local roads caused problems last Wednesday when this car spun out of control on Highway 118 opposite the Maple Lake General Store. The car was heading west when it hit a slippery patch and went into the south ditch. The undercarriage and frame of the car were damaged. The Jaws of Life were used to pry open the doors and free the driver, Barbara Wright, who was taken to Minden Hospital, treated and released.

Firefighters take their lumps

Minden firefighters are rightfully taking their lumps this week for the mix-up that left the department so short of staff that it could not respond to a fire call.

Yet, while this incident underscores the need for better co-ordination and communication among the volunteers, it should not be used as a performance appraisal of the department as a whole. Minden's firefighters are among the best trained and most competent in the county.

The department was caught by surprise when all but two firefighters failed to respond to a fire at an Allsaw storage shed last week. With deer hunting season in full swing, most of the firefighters were out at remote hunt camps and were unable to respond.

The main problem, however, was that no one knew how short of staff they were until the alarm was sounded. When only two men showed up at the firehall, they had to ask Haliburton to respond, which ultimately meant a lengthy response time.

Being volunteers, the firefighters can take their vacations whenever they please. And, if they all choose to go off at the same time, there's nothing the township can do to stop them.

However, we're confident that once a policy is in place whereby firefighters book their vacations with Chief Bill Hogg, the problem will be resolved. Whenever there is an obvious shortage of volunteers, mutual aid will be notified and calls will be promptly handled by neighbouring departments.

By and large, Minden can be proud of the dedication of the firefighters in this volunteer department. No one is more embarrassed about this incident than our firefighters. To their credit, they are taking the necessary steps to ensure this will not be repeated.

Good luck at COSSA this Saturday in Belleville.

Where's Superman to save us from the technology now?

Technology in the wrong hands can be deadly. Lex Luthor consistently proved that, but Superman was always there to save the earth from certain destruction or takeover by the evil-minded, hair-challenged individual.

But this is real life. There is no Superman. Hell, there isn't even a Lois Lane although we do have marvels of plastic bodies resembling her cartoon form. So who's there to protect us from the technology we create.

David Suzuki? No offence, but is anybody listening to him these days?

Ralph Nader? The guy uses technology to get his points across.

In short, there is no one to save us from deadly 20th century beasts like...the fax machine.

Like a phone, it transmits messages through wires crisscrossing the world - fibre-optics or something like that. Also like a phone it plugs into the wall, rings and is generally busy whenever you try to get through.

Still, it's not as simple as all that. For one thing it requires paper - a lot of paper. The big office to-do this week was who forgot to order some paper for the voracious fax machine.

When you get the paper you then have to install it. How many fax machines have side panels that have been sheared off in an attempt to put the paper on the paper roll thingamijig? How many doors are hanging limply, or just missing altogether?

Whenever something bad happens with technology everybody in the immediate vicinity says, "Hey, not my fault. I wasn't even within five metres of the thing."

The fax machine is in fact simple to operate, as any 10-year-old knows. The problem is that 10-year-olds are not operating them, adults are. Not

Stop Tory abuse of tax dollars now

Editor:

The Tory ranks are decimated. So, Tory Senate leader Lowell Murray has vowed to use tax dollars to help revive the party. He says Tory Senators can do this by using up their office budget allotment to hire additional staff. If each of the Conservative Senators use up their full entitlement, it will amount to more than $2.3 million. So much for Tory fiscal restraint. And the tragedy is that it will be Jean Chretien and his Liberal party who will be accused of increased government spending.

We must put the brakes on this insanity now. I urge all constituents to write letters of protest urging the government to freeze the spending limits of the Senate to 1992 levels. Otherwise, we are going to be stuck with the bill once again. When the Senators tried to increase their expense allowance by $6,000, public anger was successful in turning the situation around. Please don't sit still and let this new obscenity happen.

The Reform Party platform stressed time and time again the urgent need for fiscal restraint. I hope that true reformers everywhere will be as outraged as I am at this latest insult to the Canadian people. Let the government know how you feel. Let the Tory party use its own money to retrench.

Flowers and beads

Hey Ma, look, no steroids

Are you a sports fan?

I'm a semi-fan, I guess. I don't much care who's in front in the National League West (Heck, I don't know which teams are even in the National League West) — but I kind of like the characters that professional sport throws up every once in a while.

Canada's provided its share of sports characters, sprinter Harry Jerome, swimmer Victor Davis, hockey clown Eddie Shack.

Then there are the legendary characters who transcend borders. Tennis brats John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors . . . Golf loons like Chi Chi Rodriguez . . . not to mention Vince Lombardi, Casey Stengel, Yogi Berra.

Even the owners of sports franchises sometimes make it in the Great Characters Hall of Fame. Toronto Maple Leaf fans will not soon forget — or forgive — what a gross buffoon named Harold Ballard did to their team.

And then there's George Steinbrenner, the New York Yankees' answer to Harold Ballard.

But they're all going to have to shift over and make room for a newcomer. It won't be long before the sports world will be abuzz with the doings and sayings of Ma Junren.

Ma Junren?

You read right. It's an odd name, but you might as well get used to it because come the 1996 Olympics, chances are Ma Junren's name will be on the front page, never mind the sports page.

Ma is a sports coach in Liaoning Province

Black'n White

by Arthur Black

which is way out in the boondocks of northeastern China. He coaches a team of female runners there and chances are exceedingly good that nobody would ever have heard of Ma Junren in Beijing much less in Canada, except for one small thing.

Ma's girls keep winning races.

And not just winning — blowing them wide open.

Just last month one of Ma's runners by the name of Wang Junxia broke the world record for women in the 10,000 metre run. Mostly when records topple, they are shaved by only tenths or even hundredths of a second.

Wang Junxia sliced an incredible 42 seconds off the record. The same week, another Liaoning team member set a world record in the women's 1500 metre race, and a half second behind her was Wang Junxia.

How come? China's never been a powerhouse in world sport outside of ping pong. Why the sudden surge?

Suspicious outsiders are beginning to whisper the dreaded s-word that blindsided Ben Johnson's sprinting career.

But they want to be very careful talking about steroids around coach Ma. He doesn't take kindly to such talk.

Ma is kind of an oriental Don Cherry — small but very mouthy. And he dresses in a fashion that makes Cherry look like a wallflower. Ma favours neon-coloured racing jackets, heavy on the orange and black checks. And he gets very annoyed when anyone suggests "his girls'" performances are chemically enhanced a la muscle-bound amazons that used to represent East Germany. "We don't want any East German instruction," he shouts. "We don't want to walk using foreign walking sticks."

So how do the members of Ma's team manage to run so fast? Ma swears the secret is in a drink made from "dong giong sya cao".

Before you rush out to buy some, you might want to know that it's basically a potion made out of crushed worm. A rare and costly worm to be sure, but a worm.

That's not the whole secret of course. Ma says brutally hard work is the rest of the prescription. His runners run at least a marathon (26 miles) every single day. And they are expected to run Ma's way — by applying the running "technology" of animals.

"I studied the sika deer and the ostrich to understand the principles of running," says Ma, who is quite happy to tootle his own horn. "My . . . technique is the most advanced in the world."

Bound like an ostrich, run like a deer, eh? Sounds familiar — sort of like: "Float like a butterfly, sting like a bee."

Which if memory serves, was the motto of another sports phenomenon not known for his modesty. A chap called Cassius Clay.

All's quiet on Halloween in Coby/Norland area

Halloween in the Coboconk area was quiet overall, while in Norland there were two incidents of egg throwing.

In Fenelon Falls there were 19 volunteers organized by the community policing committee. With their assistance, no reports of damage were received on Halloween.

The Coboconk OPP would like to thank the volunteers for the assistance provided and the community policing committee for organizing this large group.

Lost and Found

On October 27, a boat was found on the Burnt River in the area of the pinery.

Anyone missing a vessel in the area should contact the Coboconk OPP at 454-3311.

A 14-foot red fiberglass canoe was lost on Shadow Lake in Norland on October 27.

only can adults not operate a fax machine correctly, they pretend to know what they are doing. This is how those side-panels get ripped off their hinges, but "hey, not my fault."

The fax machine is just a symptom though, of the sickness, and not the cause. The world is designed for increasingly younger people who have a firm grasp of Nintendo. If you can figure out how to play Nintendo you can conquer the world today. But if you wait a few years, you too will see the world pass you by. Myself, I mastered Pac-Man at an early age, but now that game is obsolete and I tread in the same technological wasteland as my peers, unable to program a VCR to record Seinfeld on a weekly basis.

My friends and I still prefer vinyl albums to compact discs and insist that the sound is not much different.

This is another sign the world is moving forward, and we are not.

The result of all this technological impotence is a feeling of inadequacy and self-doubt. Women with these feelings have traditionally sought the aid of a good plastic surgeon, or at least a new hat. Today, men are some of the main receivers of a little tuck here, and a little nip there. That too, is about to change.

There is a doctor in Toronto who says he can add an average of three centimetres to a man's, um, er, private piece. While the procedure is not approved in Canada, he has already received over 150 calls from men wanting the $3,000 extension. If approved, this doctor will soon be a multi-millionaire with offices in every city and town in Canada.

And all because we couldn't figure out how the thingie gets its way in to the whachamacalit.

Redmen senior Kawartha champs

After trading several possessions early in the third quarter, the Rams botched up a punt attempt and the Redmen tackled the punter at the one yard line. On the very next play, Hughes barged in for the Redmen's third major of the day. The convert by Jamie Keefer was good and the Rams were down 22-7.

Hughes also had a good day running the ball collecting 40 yards on four carries. He also completed six passes for another 65 yards, with his favourite target being Peter Brohman. Fullback Craig Harding added another 40 yards rushing.

The Rams came back to make it interesting. Starting at their own 15, the Rams drove down the field and scored. They added a two point convert to make it 22-15.

While the Redmen gave up plenty of yards, they did not crack too often and made big plays when they needed to. "I'd like to congratulate all of the defence on their play. I thought we bent, but we didn't give in. They earned every blasted point they got."

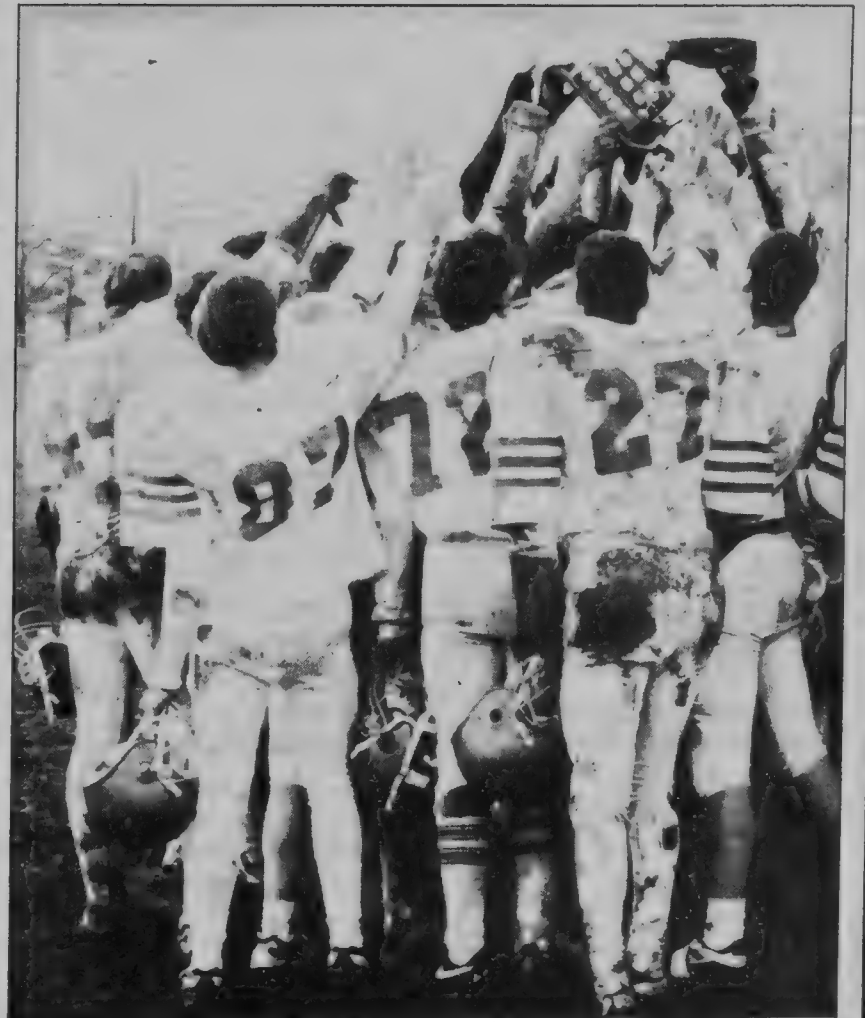

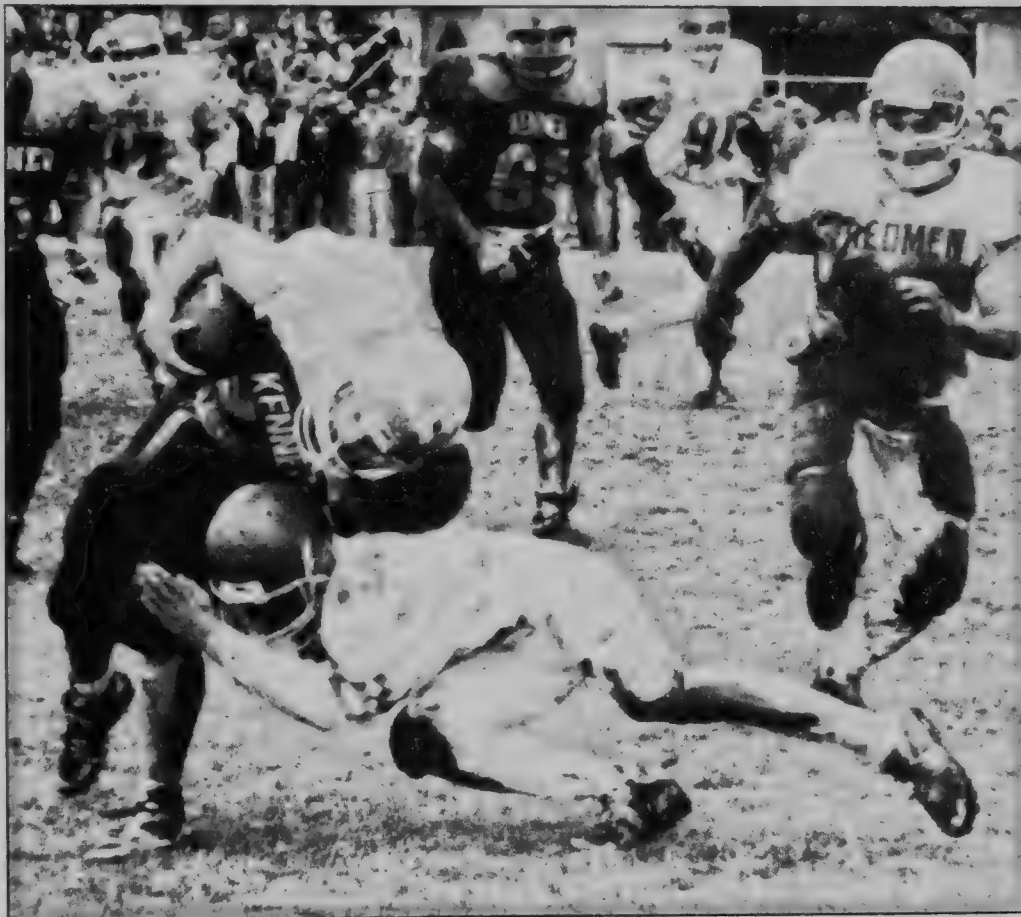

Peter Van Leeuwen and Peter Brohman were keys in the back while Jamie Keefer and Garwood Thomas did the damage up front.

Late in the fourth quarter after the defence had recovered a fumble, Bacon took over again and ran 38 yards for a touchdown to finally put the Rams away.

The Redmen play the Moira Trojans for the COSSA championship in Belleville on Saturday.

The agony of defeat shows on the Kenner Rams' faces while the Redmen celebrate (right) after playing good defence (below).

Bantam A: Minden vs. Bobcaygeon

Last Thursday at the Arena Minden Bantam As went up against an undermanned team from Bobcaygeon and while the score was tied at two entering the third period, Minden broke away to win 5-2. The deciding goal was scored by Tom Bagshaw on a breakaway early in the third period.

Bantam Bs ring up four straight wins

Minden Monarchs Bantam Bs are off to a great start, winning their first four games of the season.

The Bs played their first game of the season on October 16 at home against a pretty good team, the Keswick North Stars. Minden scored four goals in the first period and cruised to a 10-3 victory.

The following Saturday, Mariposa came to visit and, in a hard-played game, the Monarchs triumphed 4-2. The Monarchs had another good opening period scoring two goals against the Mariposa team, which is a combination of players from the Oakwood and Little Britain areas.

On October 29 the Monarchs went on their first road trip and pounded Cannington 7-2. The Monarchs scored two in the first and three in the second to take a commanding lead in the game.

The following night, the other Keswick team, the Canadians, came to Minden and lost 9-5. The game was a chippy affair, but the Monarchs showed great discipline and out-passed and out-scored a fast and capable Keswick team.

Bantam A Monarchs continue their hot streak

The Minden Monarchs Bantam A squad continues to impress early in its season. In a span of three days they picked up five of a possible six points to continue their successes started during the first week of the season.

On October 30 Mariposa came to Minden and were edged 4-3. There was only one goal scored in the first period, but it gave Minden the lead. Jeff Wray was the goal scorer with assists to Sheamus Donnery and Ben Ripley.

In the second, Mariposa took a 2-1 lead before Dave Raback tied it up. Mariposa scored one in the decisive third, but Minden scored twice. Darren Mills fired one in unassisted and Marty Dettman, assisted by Jeff Wray, scored the game winner.

The following day, Minden rode the bus to Manvers and played a great game winning 7-4.

Manvers was first on the scoreboard, scoring twice to take an early 2-0 lead. Late in the first, Marty Dettman got one back for Minden, with assists going to Dennis Woods and Dave Raback.

Early in the second, Curtis Fielding tied it up for Minden, converting assists from Tom Bagshaw and Daniel Howell.

Manvers again took the lead, but Chris Eskelin scored two straight to put Minden on top. His first goal was assisted by Howell and his second by Bagshaw. Both goals were scored on booming slapshots. Donald Todd scored to give Minden a 5-3 lead, with assists going to Eskelin and Fielding.

In the third Manvers made it close with an early goal, but Minden scored two quick ones to put the game beyond reach. Fielding scored one with assists to Todd and Woods. The second was scored by Raback unassisted.

There was little rest for Minden, however, as they travelled to Oakwood the following day to play Mariposa. Despite it being their third game in as many days, Minden tied Mariposa at three.

Jeff Wray scored first with an assist to Chris Eskelin to give Minden an early lead, but Mariposa tied it less than a minute later. Eskelin started the scoring in the second on a slapshot with assists to Ben Ripley and Wray. Minden scored another in the second when Marty Dettman put one in with assists going to Dennis Woods and Wray.

Mariposa tied it up again in the third and that's how it stayed.

Kawartha school hockey starts

While the Haliburton school board debates the usefulness of high school hockey, the Kawartha school league began last week with a whole slate of games. The Haliburton Highlands Redmen may be playing their last season if the board decides that high school hockey is taking away from the minor hockey leagues in both Minden and Haliburton. The team will be playing this year anyway. In league action Fenelon Falls defeated Lindsay Collegiate 7-3 and St. Peter's beat Campbellford 8-4.

Mustangs defence corrals Redmen

by Andy Holloway

All season long the junior Haliburton Highlands Redmen cruised through their opposition until last Thursday when they faced the Crestwood Mustangs.

On the line were the bragging rights for the Kawartha football championship and a trip to the Central Ontario Championship. And while the Redmen were game, once again a Peterborough team came away with the hardware as the Mustangs won 14-6.

The loss was the Redmen's first of the year, but they have little to hang their heads about. The team played well, they just faced a slightly better and much bigger team from Crestwood. A similar situation occurred last autumn when the Adam Scott Lions overcame a hungry Redmen squad to win the Kawarthas.

For a while it looked as if the junior Redmen were set to avenge last year's loss. After trading ineffective possessions at the start of the game the Redmen caught a break when the Mustangs were called for a no yards penalty. The penalty set the Redmen up at the Mustangs 12 yard line and four running plays later tailback Tim Stouffer crashed over the goal line from the two to give the Redmen a 6-0.

The Redmen were then nailed for a penalty wiping out a successful convert attempt. The second kick failed.

More penalties hurt both sides throughout the game, but none hurt so badly as a procedure call late in the second quarter against the Redmen which wiped out an excellent touchdown run by Mike Bradley. A touchdown at that point would have given the Redmen a 13-1 lead and a lot of momentum entering the second half.

Late in the third quarter, the Mustangs caught the break they were looking for all afternoon. The Mustangs had a simple game plan, run up the middle until the defensive line cracks. And crack it did as Ted Benson galloped 40 yards for the Mustangs first touchdown. The convert failed and the Redmen were behind for the first time in the game 7-6.

Juniors lose finals 14-6 to Crestwood

Mustangs coach Sam Sinopoli said his teams' persistence and toughness paid off.

"We're lucky that we have teams like Adam Scott in our league because it's a tough league," said Sinopoli. "I don't think they have had to play four quarters of intense football."

Midway through the fourth the Mustangs scored again. Starting on the Redmen 20-yard-line after recovering a Redmen fumble the Mustangs needed five plays to hammer home the decisive major as Al Lang plunged in from the one after being stuffed on the previous play. A bad penalty also played a key part in this drive as a Redmen was charged with objectionable conduct which put the ball on the one yard line.

Behind 14-6 after a successful convert, the Redmen went to the aerial game with just under three minutes left. Unfortunately, the passing game did not have a chance to connect as the Mustangs hurried throws, knocked down passes and intercepted two throws.

The Mustangs now face the Moira Trojans for the Central Ontario championship. The Trojans completed a sweep of the Quinte region when the seniors also made it through to that level.

Service is key in computer purchase

by Russ Duhaime

Haliburton's secondary students will be getting more computer experience once the 40 new computers are installed at the high school.

The school board's education committee met last week to review the plans to enhance the school's aging computer equipment. Dale Robinson, Superintendent of Schools, briefed the committee on the progress of this $100,000 venture.

The school's business/computer lab will be equipped with 20 to 25 Dos machines, and all will be linked up through a fileserver.

In addition, the cross-curricular lab will be equipped with 15 to 20, 486 computers to serve the English, Art, Math, History and Geography classes. One of these computers will also be equipped with a CD ROM drive, which is a must for some of the technical programs.

The ICON computers now in use at the school will be moved to another room where they can be used for word processing. Robinson said that while these computers are obsolete, they are still useful for word processing.

The actual number of computers for each lab will depend on the prices. The board will soon be accepting tenders for this purchase.

While price is an important factor, Robinson says there will also be much emphasis on set-up, service and support. "This is absolutely essential," he said. "We might get a good buy, but it could cost us later."

Designing Students

Students at Archie Stouffer Elementary School are getting an early introduction to shop classes, thanks to a program that is in place for the first time this year. Students in grades two and three are being introduced to Design and Technology classes, which provides them with hands-on experience in designing useful items and problem solving. Teacher George Burley says the students have produced some interesting projects in their first try at this. Using popsicle sticks, they were asked to design and build a container to serve a specific use. He says the exercise succeeded in teaching the students some basic construction techniques. They also become familiar with many of the tools in the shop and learn important safety habits. Shown here, Marley Viney puts the finishing touches on the candy bowl she built in class.

Drug Awareness Week

Parents can lead the war against drugs

The organizers of Drug Awareness Week have provided the following tips for parents who would like to help prevent drug and alcohol abuse by helping their children make informed decisions.

Take the time to attend drug and alcohol abuse presentations offered in the community. The Addiction Research Foundation will have a table set up with information on all aspects of substance use and abuse at the opening ceremonies of Drug Awareness Week this Friday at 7 p.m. at Hart Lodge.

Help your children become knowledgeable about drugs (tobacco, alcohol, inhalants and illicit drugs) so they will be able to separate the truth from perceptions and myths they will hear.

Encourage your children to ask questions. Make them feel there is no such thing as a stupid question. Give them opportunities to join in discussions with the rest of the family. Value their opinions.

Parental role modelling can have a great influence. You can teach responsible, health conscious decisions with your own choices around the use of alcohol, tobacco and other drugs. Share with your children the values that influence your decisions and encourage them to think through their own values.

Anticipate situations your children may face and assist them to work out how to handle these in advance. For example, talk about how to avoid rides with impaired drivers. Help them to accept the discomfort they will often feel if they decline to "join the party."

Help your children to develop a strong value system as this can help them say no to drugs and can give them the courage to make decisions on facts other than peer pressure.

It's just light beer . . .

Try to answer each of the following True/False questions (Answers are below)

1. I drink only light beer (3% alcohol content), so I don't have to worry about driving.

2. I think I'll save that beer for after the game. I play best without alcohol.

3. I know I've had quite a bit to drink, but after a strong coffee and a bit of fresh air, I'll be okay to drive.

4. It's the perfect night for snowmobiling, but it's awfully cold out there, so let's take a bottle of whisky to keep warm

5. I only had a beer this afternoon and a glass of wine with dinner. I can drive you home.

6. I feel really down today. Too many problems on my mind. A drink will cheer me up.

7. I can drive home now; I haven't had a drink in the past 45 minutes.

8. I couldn't get drunk today if I tried. It is so hot that I'm sweating the alcohol out as fast as I drink it.

9. Another drink? No thanks, I'm still working on my first. It usually takes me about half an hour before I feel the effects of it.

10. What I drink is my business. It has nothing to do with my kids.

. . . but it still gets you drunk

1. False

Light beer is somewhat less potent than regular beer. In Ontario, regular beer is 5% alcohol. Three light beers are roughly the equivalent of two regular beers.

2. True.

Drinking reduces your ability to perform well. You will always perform better without alcohol, and your risks of accidents will be lower.

3. False

Black coffee and fresh air do not lower a person's level of intoxication. However, they are a good alternative to continued drinking. Coffee turns a drowsy drunk into a wide-awake drunk who will have the same problem driving.

4 False

Alcohol does not keep the body warm. Initially, you may feel warm and flushed, but that doesn't last long. Alcohol acts to slow down your circulation, and you will begin to feel the cold more quickly.

5. True

As long as the last drink was an hour before driving. Keep your risk of problems low by having no more than three drinks (women) or four drinks (men) a day, and no more than 12 drinks a week. Make sure you wait at least one hour between each drink, and remember the less you drink the lower your risk of alcohol problems.

6. False

Drinking to cope with problems is more likely to add to them. Alcohol is a depressant drug, not a problem solver.

7. False

Alcohol is eliminated from the body at a fixed rate of approximately one drink per hour. For those who drink, consumption should be limited to one drink per hour so that all alcohol is eliminated from the body before driving. Individuals with .08% blood alcohol content can be charged with impaired driving. If the alcohol content is between .05% and .07%, a 12-hour licence suspension can be imposed. Therefore the safest approach is not to drink before driving.

8. False

Most alcohol leaves a bloodstream through a process which breaks it down into carbon dioxide and water. Some of the alcohol leaves the body through urine, breath and perspiration. But since this is generally only six per cent of the alcohol, it is almost impossible to sweat oneself sober.

9. True

It takes 30 minutes or more before you feel the full effects of your first drink, so start slowly. Most people make the mistake of loading up too quickly. And remember if your weight is on the light side, you should drink less because you have less body water to absorb the alcohol. Also, if those extra pounds are fat, they cannot absorb alcohol.

10. False

Children learn their life lessons about drinking from watching important adults in their lives. Set a good example. If you choose moderation, you'll pass along healthy attitudes and behaviour.

Learn more about alcohol and other drugs. Come to the opening ceremonies for Drug Awareness Week on Friday, November 12 at Hart Lodge from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Events around the county

Doc Dawson departs

After serving the Minden area for eight years Doctor Stephen Dawson has decided it's time to move on.

The clinic's staff, in a farewell, decided to play a little joke and had a gorilla from Special Effects pretend to be a patient. After finishing up with one patient Dawson was told he had another patient to look after. He then received a happy shock when a gorilla appeared before him dressed in a nurse's uniform and carrying a syringe.

After recovering and ensuring the patient was physically OK, Dawson and staff had a chance for a pizza lunch.

Dawson, who also serves in many other clinics including Cobocok and Bracebridge, left due to a number of other commitments and for his family.

The clinic will continue with doctors Marc Chayer, Tennessee Katsuta and Shabaz Warsi who will stay with the clinic and also work at the Minden Hospital.

Lioness' share

The Minden Lioness Club presented a cheque for $250 to the Stanhope Rescue Vehicle Fundraising Campaign last Tuesday night at their meeting in Minden. Presenting the cheque to Stanhope volunteer firefighter Ralph Johnson are Lioness president Joyce Wright and treasurer Georgina Kernohan.

At the galleries

Two new shows recently opened up at the two major art galleries in the county.

At the Agnes Jamieson Gallery in Minden Joanne Heath-Menger, a Peterborough-raised painter, has a showing titled A Medley of Colour, running until November 27.

Heath-Menger currently lives and works at her studio in Buckhorn, just north of Peterborough. Primarily a self-taught artist she has always been drawn towards nature and has been painting since early childhood.

For the last 15 years she has worked in watercolours and before that in oils. Her work shows a good eye for detail and accuracy.

Over the years she has had many exhibitions of her work including the Orillia Waterfowl Festival this fall. Her work has also appeared in the Highlands Artisans Festival and the Cobourg Art Festival.

Over at the Rails End Gallery there is an exhibition of Christmas crafts with a focus on Santa Claus and Christmas folklore (above photo). A similar craft sale will occur at the Jamieson Gallery later in December.

Minden Council Notes

Reeve Berry hangs ex-Reeve Moore

by Andy Holloway

The following brief items were discussed at Minden Council on Thursday, October 28.

Current Reeve Bern Berry had the pleasure of hanging former Minden Reeve Ray Moore up on the wall in council chambers. Of course, it was a picture of Moore that was hung and his picture now hangs proudly along side those of past Minden reeves.

When both were members of the same council, Berry and Moore used to have verbal sparring sessions that, at the very least, made good headlines. But Berry said in making the presentation that despite the arguments, council also accomplished a lot for the township, like the expansion of the arena. Moore agreed saying, "Bern and I fought like cats and dogs, but we're still friends."

Moore said he enjoyed his time with council - which he left due to health problems, although he would not rule out a future return - and that it is important to give something back to the community you live in.

"Minden is very dear to my heart. Why, I don't know. I just sort of fell into it. As long as you keep giving back to the community, the people will respond to you."

No land here

Jude King received enthusiasm from council for SIRCH's plan to create a women's shelter, but did not get what she really wanted - a site for the home. King, who is coordinating the project, asked council if it had any land that would be suitable for a shelter. She said some of the things to be considered were that it be in a neighborhood and not isolated, close to the OPP and have water and sewage. Reeve Bern Berry said the only land the township owned was either park land or work yards and that it didn't own property in housing neighborhoods.

Council was supportive of the shelter project, however, and asked to be kept informed on its progress. King said the shelter has a potential client base of 610 women in this county if you apply the province statistics which show that one out of eight women is abused.

The shelter is expected to cost $60,000 which will be donated by various groups and individuals. So far the fund has about $3,000. Councillor Jerry Rome questioned whether the three-bedroom house was big enough to solve the county's problem. King said it points the county in the right direction.

"It's a step. It's not going to be a solution, but it is a step for our community."

Small claims move

The Haliburton Small Claims Court Office has been moved from the Minden Municipal Office to the county building at 12 Newcastle Street. The municipal office had been provided for the court free of charge by Minden. At the new office, services will be provided five days a week and some sheriff services will be added as well. Nora MacIsaac, Operations Supervisor with the Attorney General, thanked the employees of the township for their assistance and support.

After battling it out in Minden council chambers for many years, current Minden Reeve Bern Berry finally got former Reeve Ray Moore right where he wanted - up against the wall. Moore's picture now hangs on the wall of reeves in chambers.

TVO fans to lobby for signal access

Can you get TVOntario? If you can, you're on cable, have a satellite dish on the KU band, or live in just the right spot to catch the wave. Lucky you!

For most of the people in Haliburton County and environs, the TVO signal is spotty at best or completely unavailable at worst. Of course, there are lots of folks who can't get it and don't miss it. But there are many who can't get it and miss it terribly. For these people, TVO's new motto, Television That Matters, sums up the whole debate.

And the point is, that in its corporate guise as the Ontario Educational Television Authority, TVO is supported by provincial tax dollars. Whether you can get it or not, you're paying for it!

A number of TVO fans in the area want to get proper access to the signal. Some of them came out to a meeting in Minden on Wednesday, October 27th, to find out more about how to do just that. Half-a-dozen signed on to help; an equal number who couldn't come to the meeting have phoned to say they want to get involved.

TV Ontario

by Susan Wilson

This TVO Action Team is not operating in a vacuum. We have the "Plan in a Can" from Pembroke, the last community to lobby successfully for access to the signal.

We have the active and enthusiastic support of TVO staff, from CEO Peter Herrendorf down. And we have the experience and expertise of the other community representatives on the Southcentral Regional Council to draw on.

The next step will be to get the Action Team together for a brainstorming session and agree on how the work will be divided. At the moment, we hope to get together at the end of November — perhaps in the afternoon on Sunday, November 28th.

Program Highlights:

Starting Thursday, November 4, at 10:00 p.m., TVO will broadcast The Good Sex Guide as part of its Vital Signs programming slot. The eight-part series is billed as "the most intelligent, entertaining, and educational guide to sex in the 1990s." Starring saucy, blonde Liverpudlian Margi Clarke, the shows combine comedy sketches, animation, and conversations with individuals. In Britain, where The Good Sex Guide was produced and first aired, it drew 9 million viewers and two complaints.

On November 20, Saturday Night at the Movies continues its 20th anniversary celebrations with director Stanley Kubrick's 1963 classic, Dr. Strangelove or How I Learned to Stop Worrying and Love the Bomb. Peter Sellers, the man with the elastic personality, takes on three roles, portraying the American president, an RAF officer, and the lunatic inventor of the bomb with his memorably undisciplined right arm.

Susan Wilson represents Haliburton County on TVOntario's Southcentral Regional Council. If you would like to help get access to the TVO signal or have any other comments, call her at 286-6009. This column appears every four weeks. It reports on the progress of the TVO Action Team and highlights upcoming TVO programs.

Christmas Seals one constant in ever changing holiday season

Much has changed about Christmas since the early 1900s. Christmas trees are as apt to come from a factory as a forest; nutcrackers have given way to electronic games in children's stockings. One thing that hasn't changed is Christmas Seals.

The colourful seals can still be found on millions of cards and packages each year. And they're still the country's leading source of funds for fighting lung disease.

The Lung Association has just mailed the 1993 Christmas Seals to 3.5 million homes in Ontario, including 34,000 homes in Victoria and Haliburton Counties.

This year's campaign aims to raise $5 million province wide and $40,000 locally for programs to combat asthma, emphysema, lung cancer and other forms of lung disease, which together represent the third leading cause of death in Canada.

The 1993 seal was designed by artist Raymond Boyer. It reflects a continuing fondness for traditional holiday images. It depicts a burning candle against a winter's night sky. The flame is symbolic of hope — for those struggling with lung disease.

There is, however, a part of the Christmas Seal tradition the Lung Association would just as soon end. Funds from the first campaign were used to fight tuberculosis, which was then the leading killer in Ontario. That fight, which once seemed all but won, continues as outbreaks of drug-resistant TB have raised the specter of deadly epidemics.

It's not time to panic about the threat of TB in Canada. However, if people support Christmas Seals today, there's less chance they'll have to worry tomorrow.

The next few years could bring significant gains in lung disease research. New therapies are saving an increasing number of babies born with respiratory problems.

Researchers are close to unravelling the genetic causes of asthma. With success in these areas and continued progress against air pollution and smoking, tens of thousands of lives could be saved each year.

However, more resources are desperately needed. With more resources, the alarming rise in deaths from lung disease can be stopped and reversed. That's what Christmas Seals are all about.

This is Mike Harris

A lot of people know him as "The Taxfighter" because he's been battling taxes for eight years. As a father of two young boys, he understands the need to reform education as a successful small businessperson, he knows how red tape and taxes can kill jobs and as a champion of direct democracy, he believes in giving the public a real say in developing policy.

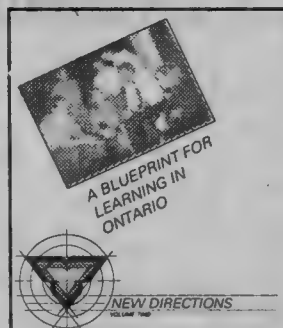

The Mike Harris program of public consultation began in November of 1991 with the first paper in the New Directions series. Since then ... through Task Forces and public hearings ... by phone, FAX and mail ... tens of thousands of Ontarians have had their concerns and ideas included in policy decisions.

Mike Harris has something to share with you...

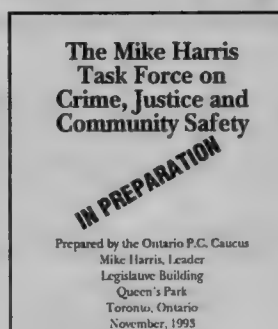

New Directions Vol. I

This paper addresses Ontario's economic problems and details PC Leader Mike Harris' proposals for developing comprehensive economic strategies and for bringing jobs back to Ontario. It was first published in the Fall of '91 and is currently being updated.

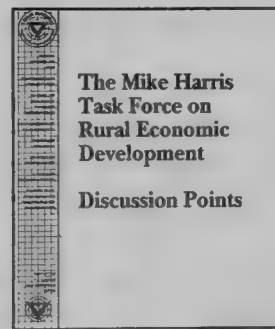

New Directions Vol. II

For those teachers, parents, students and concerned citizens who feel that Ontario's education system needs to be re-vamped, this paper is for you! To promote the key themes of excellence, opportunity and accountability in education, Volume II examines a series of policy alternatives.

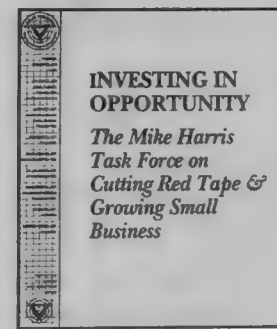

New Directions Vol. III

We launched the Crime, Justice & Community Safety Task Force in January '93. By travelling Ontario to hold public hearings, and by distributing discussion materials, we have been able to prompt public response. The results will be published in Volume III.

New Directions Discussion Paper

We held the first Task Force on Rural Economic Development in August of '93. So far, we've heard from people in Essex, Sparta, Simcoe, Delhi, Woodstock, Tillsonburg, Eastwood, Haliburton, and Lindsay. We will spend a year visiting towns and looking for new opportunities. Then we'll publish the results.

New Directions Discussion Paper

Despite creating 80% of our jobs, small business in Ontario is being strangled by taxes and paper. Mike Harris said "enough" and launched The Task Force on Cutting Red Tape & Growing Small Business this fall. The results will be published in 1994.

Wet, dreary November follows baseball fever

November, with wet snow already and rain and clouds, sure takes some of the zip out of the residents at Staunworth Court. Our walkers have decided on the inside halls for exercise.

We were all a bit disappointed at the small turnout of children for Hallowe'en. Henry Howe and his laughing doll greeted the children as they came in and captured their attention as one of the treats.

The excitement surrounding the World Series kept the followers here on a real high. Now it's back to hockey — will it be one of the first programs to go when the new "No Violence" law goes into effect on T.V.?

Residents gathered for a thank you and goodbye lunch for Hector Arsenault, who has looked after our home for the last nine years. We will certainly miss him and thank him for a job well done.

Our Residents Council meeting set the plans in motion for a Christmas party on December 8. It is hoped that we will all be healthy for this holiday event.

Cords shocking kids, says CSA

Members of the Canadian Standards Association are trying to determine the number of Canadian children who have suffered electrical mouth burns from extension cords. An electrical shock and/or electrical mouth burns can occur if the child places in its mouth the receptacle end of an energized extension cord (one plugged into a live wall receptacle). The Canadian Hospitals' Injury Reporting and Prevention Program (CHIRPP) database has recorded nine such cases to date.

If you are aware of any injuries to children from extension cord sets, please write to Bernice Browne, CSA Consumer Services, 178 Rexdale Blvd., Toronto, Ontario M9W 1R3 or send a fax to 416-747-2473.

Copies of the "CSA + The Consumer" are now available without charge from your nearest Information Centre.

Ford fun

The grand opening of Ridgewood Ford in Minden on October 15 was a big success. A number of people turned out to tour the enormous indoor showroom located on the Highway 35 Minden bypass. Attending the opening were (from left) County Warden Chris Hodgson, Ford Canada Vice-president John Radford, Ridgewood owners Larry and Julie Moynes and Minden Reeve Bern Berry.

Happy Wanderers entertain

Saturday, October 23 Dottie Muirhead had crafts to make little witches for putting at each table setting on Halloween. Six residents worked all afternoon on this project.

In the meantime, the group Harmony entertained the rest of the residents with harmony singing and music. Thank you ladies, we truly appreciate you coming.

Sunday, May and Roy Cameron and Jackie Yalteman came from Peterborough and took me for a drive. We went to Little Hawk Lake to see the rapids on the river, then to Haliburton to Wilda LaRue's and saw the Blue Jay presentation at the SkyDome and had dinner at Kozy Korner. I missed the Chapel service with Reverend John Burgess.

Also on Sunday, the residents and staff were all invited to the birthday party in honour of Robert Mitchell, in the auditorium. His family planned a lovely party. There were games, gifts for almost everyone, lots of food and fun for all. A special thank you goes out to Robert's family for inviting us, and wishing him many more.

Monday we had fitness in the morning and in the afternoon the Hyland Crest Auxiliary held their monthly meeting in the craft room. Corinne Arsenault supervised cards for us in the dining room. Thanks Corinne.

Tuesday Chapel service was conducted by Pastor Murray. The residents really appreciate the service. There were crafts in the afternoon.

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

We had fitness Wednesday morning and Dottie Muirhead had the reading of the two local papers at 11 a.m. In the afternoon we had a special treat when the Happy Wanderers, a senior choral group from the Coboconk area, entertained us with a delightful program of singing and music. They looked so beautiful in long black skirts, white waists with red bows at their throats. We enjoyed them immensely. Thank you Happy Wanderers.

The ladies from Club 35 were here with our Thursday Tea Party and birthday cake for October birthday people - Lula Ferrill, Judy Stevenson, Marjory McIntosh, Ethel Shaw, Mary Smith, Robina Thomas and Kathleen Wren. The ladies provided a delicious tea and a beautiful cake. They were Verna Sawyer, Olive Jones, Olive Daniels, Mary Schad, May Bradbury and Marion Irwin. After tea we had a period of music. We wish to thank these ladies heartily. In the evening some of the residents played bingo.

Friday was Happy Hour. The residents were entertained by Frank Faulkner and Connie Biagi. As always, the entertainers and volunteers who served us made our Friday afternoon a lovely time. Thank you to all.

Seeking distractions in sun-baked journey

Travelling around Paraguay, Argentina and Brazil for my television show, I am desperate for any news from Canada. In the Argentine city of Posadas, I learned from CNN that Michael Smith had won a Nobel Prize. That night we toasted Smith for his rare honour.

I had mixed feelings during our celebrations. Elation for the recognition of Smith's DNA work and sadness at how few other Canadians have received this honour.

For each of the three Nobel prizes awarded to Canadians, I know of at least two others who earned them while working in other countries. Canadian governments have never understood why good science matters to a country, committed research support at a level competitive with other industrial countries nor shown that they even know how to go about creating a top-notch community of researchers. I hope Smith's award will inspire greater support for scientists in Canada.

Here is South America, we have missed the election campaigning. Under the relentless sun, one's mind ranges over topics in search of distraction. Here are some thoughts.

Poverty is the norm here as we pass by shacks with people on the edge of survival and squalid towns teeming with hustlers peddling their wares. Everywhere, forests that once covered the land are gone along with their inhabitants - anteaters, jaguars, toucans and aboriginal people.

Surveying the terrible destruction of forest communities by roads, dams and development, it's easy to harshly judge the eradication of unique and priceless rainforests.

But, I remember a friend, who observed when he came to visit in British Columbia: "Brazilians destroy the rivers and forests because they are poor and uneducated. What is Canada's excuse?"

The loss of nature is no worse in poor countries than in industrialized countries like Canada. The assault on the planet's wilderness is the consequence of a global mindset that is preoccupied by an economic imperative which ignores its consequences on air, water, soil and biodiversity.

I recall a war veteran getting up at a rally to prevent logging in B.C.'s Stein Valley. He told us he had taken part in an exercise to take a hill occupied by the enemy. "For five days they bombed hell out of that hill, but it didn't look anything as bad as that," he said, pointing to the huge clear-cut on a nearby mountain.

The battle is both with the natural world around us and within us. A recent television show documented the revolution in genetic engineering taking place because of our insights into DNA and our manipulative skills.

And in this area, I can see the same impulse to

Reflections

by David Suzuki

control the wild that is in us, to bring our genetic makeup under control.

When a new subdivision is developed, the land is first cleared of all trees and vegetation and the geometrically correct outlines of our property are brought in. Then we build and remake the landscape, often naming the area for what it once was. We like to live in a human created environment.

A few years ago my wife's cousin from England came to work on a farm in B.C. He was shocked to discover that a creek that had once run through the farmer's field had been filled in and rerouted as a ditch running along the farm's edge. He decried the lack of respect for a creek that had etched its path over perhaps thousands of years.

Last year while in Japan, I learned that even though the Japanese revere their rivers as part of their long folklore and culture, all but two of them have been "domesticated". And the last two which still support wildlife and fisheries are under imminent threat of becoming imprisoned in concrete and stone.

It seems strangely paradoxical that on one hand we revel in the rugged beauty of ecological systems in their natural state, yet we seem determined to destroy them.

Everywhere, dams and massive clearcuts emboss the planet with the stamp of humankind, replacing the wild with a simpler, more controllable imitation. The notion of control is tragically short-sighted and illusory. It's time to end our war with nature and learn to live in harmony with the rest of life.

Thanks again to everyone.
